The first fire alarm in about six weeks was sounded yesterday inorning about 11:30 o'clock from box No. 6 at the Wheeling Pottery. The cause was the igniting in some manner of the tar and pitch in the blg kettle that was being used by the contractor laying the brick pavement on Eoff street for boiling the pitch praparatory to pouring it on the pavement. The inflamable stuff burned fiercely, and boiling over the kettle's edge began running down the guiters of La Bedie avenne, endangering the fences. The firemen soon put the blaze out by shoveling sand on the burning streams. Yesterday's Fire Alarm.

RAILROAD TAX CASE.

THE CHESAPEARE & OHIO CO."

The answer of Auditor Duffy to the bill of the complainants was read. It denies that the Auditor made up the statement of taxes chargeable to the Coupany, this sue in the Present Controversy.

The suit of Alexander B. Green and Isaac E. Gates, representing the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad company, against State Auditor P. F. Duffy and the Sherifs of the several counties through which the company's road passes, to enjoin and prevent the collection by these officials of vent the collection by these officials of the through the company would not raise so that the company could not raise so that the company could not raise so that the company could not raise so The carnivals at the Alhambra and North End rinks last evening were both well attended, and the evening passed entered the State, county, district and municipal when the collection by these officials of the the company could not raise so much money at once. Later Mr. Duffy the State, county, district and municipal much money at once. Later Mr. Duff taxes charged against the company, was told the General that it had been decided called up in the United States district court, Judge J. J. Jackson on the bench, yesterday forenoon, and the argument on the taxes have been placed at a larger sum percent additional. The allegation that the taxes have been placed at a larger sum than at first claimed to be due is denied. This makes the gist of the questions at issue. Mr. Caldwell's time was largely taken up by the reading of the answer, though it has not yet been filed as an answer. The State demurs to the bill. If this demurrer is overruled, the paper will be put in as the Auditor's answer.

The question whether Mr. Caldwell by due authority represents the sherifs of the counties having local taxes due is an important one. behalf of the company was commenced by Judge Ferguson. Attorney General Cald-well began the response on behalf of the State, and his argument was in progress when court adjourned till 10 A M. to-day. THE COMPANY'S CLAIM.

Judge Ferguson's argument was almost xclusively upon the law governing the case, and the facts alleged in the bill of complaint. This bill alleges that after the decision of the State's suit against the railroad company in the United States supreme Court, Auditor Duffy proceeded to charge up against the company the taxes alleged to be due the State and the eight counties interested, for the years from 1879 to 1884, inclusive, amounting to about $193,000, of which the State and $184,000. It is further claimed that on account of the pendency of the former suit the company was not at any time under obligations to pay the taxes charged against it until that suit was decided, and as the law gives railroad companies until June 39 after their taxes become due to pay them before assessing 10 percent extra as a penalty, this company is not chargeable with the 10 percent until June 30, 1880, but to that date is entitled to 2½ percent discount, as if the taxes due were all assessed this year.

The complainants further allege that the company offered to pay to the Auditor all the taxes due less the 10 percent, but the offer was refused. It is also stated that the amount of taxes certified for collection is larger by from $19,000 to $30.000 than was at first claimed by the Auditor to be due from the company. the taxes alleged to be due the State and

Summed up:

The allegations and claims of the complainants are thus summed up:

First—The taxes herein mentioned are, under the facts and circumstances of this case, to be taxed as if they had been assessed for the year 1885, thus giving to the said company until the 30th day of Jnne, 1885, to nay them into the treasury of the State as hereinbefore mentioned.

Second—Even if it were proper to send said taxes to the sheriffs of the several counties for collection at once, it was improper to add thereto the said ten percent, or any part of it.

Third—But if it were proper to so send said taxes for collection, with any part of the ton percent added, it was clearly improper to add the ten percent to the State and State school taxes which said company offered to pay as aforesaid, and which the Auditor refused to receive as aforesaid, and,

Fourth—It was illegal and improper to said, and, Fourth—It was illegal and improper to Fourth—It was illegal and improper to charge interest on said taxes.

And the orators further say that the only property of the company which could be levied upon and sold for the said taxes is its engines, passenger and freight cars, and the materials for repairing its railread with possibly some machinery in its shops, as they are informed and believe; that the company owing to the financial depression in the whole country for the last two years, and the great falling off of its business and income during that period, is unable at this time, to pay the whole of said taxes, and especially with the said 10 percent interest added, and that it would be highly improper for it to do so until the questions herein stated are heard and determined by your Honor, also that the company's property is covered by deeds of trust to creditors, and that these creditors' rights would be sacrificed if the demands and requirements of the State officers were complied with.
